

Privacy Policy — Feel Good Singing (Happity Bookings)

When you book a taster session with Feel Good Singing (including Singing Mamas with Polly) through Happity, your name, email address, and phone number are shared with me so I can confirm your booking and be in touch ahead of your session. I may also ask for any dietary or access requirements before your visit: this information is used only for that session and is not stored. This policy covers data held outside of the Happity platform. For information on how Happity handles your data, please refer to their own privacy policy.

If you go on to join as a regular member, I'll ask for your details via a registration form. I'll also ask at that point whether you'd like to join my mailing list. You can say no, and it won't affect your place in the group.

Your data is stored securely and is never sold or passed to third parties. I share anonymised, non-identifiable Singing Mamas group attendance numbers with Singing Mamas HQ for reporting purposes only.

I keep your information for as long as you're an active member. If you'd like me to delete your data at any time, please get in touch at Polly Hancock
