

Privacy Policy

The laws regarding the protection of your data have changed dramatically and for the better. As we deal with both your information, and that of your children we aim to be as open and as transparent as possible. Why we need your data.

To book onto our classes we need to know who you are and how to contact you. We also need to know the age of your child(ren) to make sure the class is appropriate. We will hold details of your name, address, contact details, name and age of your child(ren) and details of the classes and events you have attended. Finally, when you are paying, the payment provider needs to know your details to verify the card (this information is not retained by us).

We share your data with third party companies who help us in processing the data in hosting the website and companies who process payments on our behalf.

When booking for the first time we would prefer you opt-in so that we can tell you about any offers or when rebooking time comes around. Our classes can be very full and have waiting lists, so we would rather we make sure you know when it's time to rebook. If you choose not to opt-in we will announce rebooking schedules at class and on our Social Media platforms. On re-booking we will ask you to opt-in again. This is an expanded option where we want to share more details about our other offerings, special offers at the shop, and in the future to share learning tips that are catered to specific developmental learning points in your child's journey. Again, these offers will be made available elsewhere but by opting-in you get to see them without having to look for them. We will never sell or share your data with others without your consent and your decision to do so Unless required by applicable law or pursuant to a court or similar order. You can withdraw your consent at any time. Simply contact us. If you believe we are processing your personal data not in accordance with the law please contact us. We retain your information for the minimum period possible for business or legal reasons. For legal reasons this is often set at a minimum of 6 years.

All companies and the GDPR acknowledge that data breaches can and do occur. We have processes and controls put in place to minimise the possibility of a breach, but also when there is a breach to minimise the impact and to ensure that those affected are kept informed.

If you have any questions please contact us.
